

We are EdTrust

Analyzing Representational Balance in English Language Arts Curricula

FIERCE ADVOCATES

for education equity and justice for students of color and students from low-income families

Equity-Driven • Data-Centered • Student-Focused

The Education Trust

Today's Agenda

THE FRAMEWORK
Tool for Representational Balance

10 Minutes

FINDINGS WHO HOW

15 Minutes

YOUR TURN

15 Minutes

A photograph of a school hallway with blue lockers on both sides. Several people, including adults and students, are walking through the hallway, all wearing face masks. The hallway is brightly lit with overhead lights.

Welcome!

Please think about a book that had a profound impact on you.

THE FRAMEWORK

Tool for Representational Balance

PEOPLE

GROUPS

TOPICS

PEOPLE

Curriculum Analysis Key Questions: People

Are people of color multidimensional?

Do people of color have agency?

Are people of color positively influential?

GROUPS

Curriculum Analysis Key Questions: Groups

Are people, groups, and cultures of color represented without stereotypes?

Are people of color immersed in groups and cultures?

Are groups and cultures presented positively or as having assets?

Are multiple groups portrayed as equally valuable?

i love my HISTORY
i love my CULTURE
i love my PEOPLE
i love ME

TOPICS

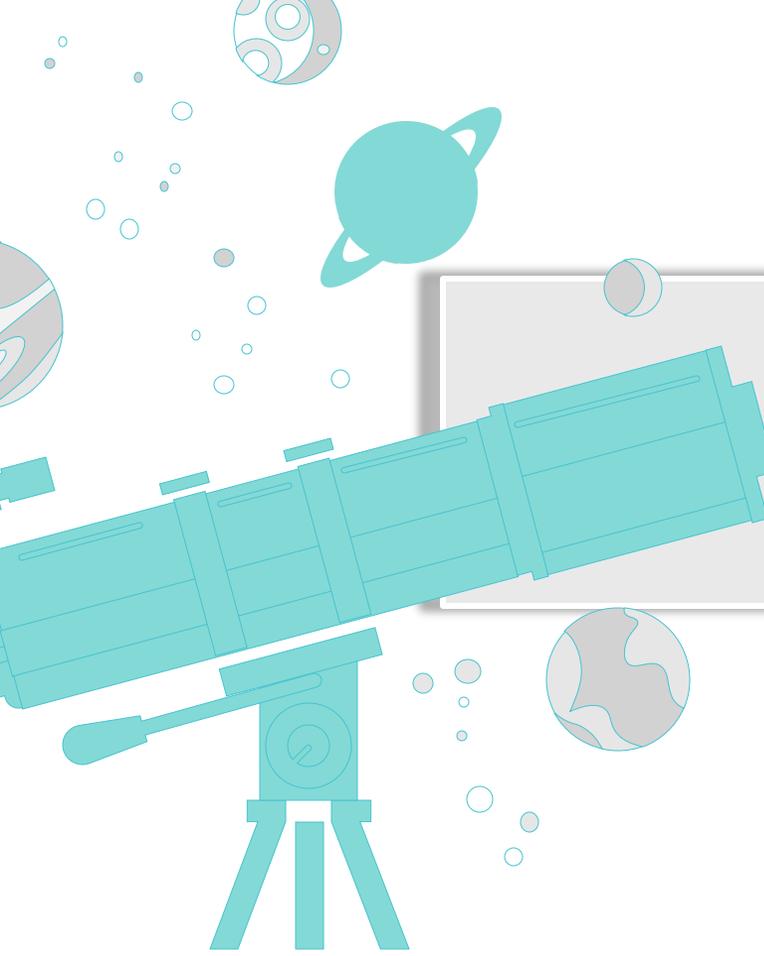

Curricula Analysis Findings: Topics

A high-angle photograph of a massive crowd of people filling a city street. Many individuals are holding up handmade signs and banners, suggesting a protest or a large-scale public demonstration. The street is lined with buildings, and the scene is captured in bright daylight.

Are historical and social topics presented without sanitization?

Do historical and social topic presentations include the perspectives of people of color?

Is there a connection between historical and social topic presentations and the real experiences of students?

FINDINGS

WHO

HOW

Up Next

YOUR TURN

WHO

Curricula Analysis Findings: Authors

AUTHORS

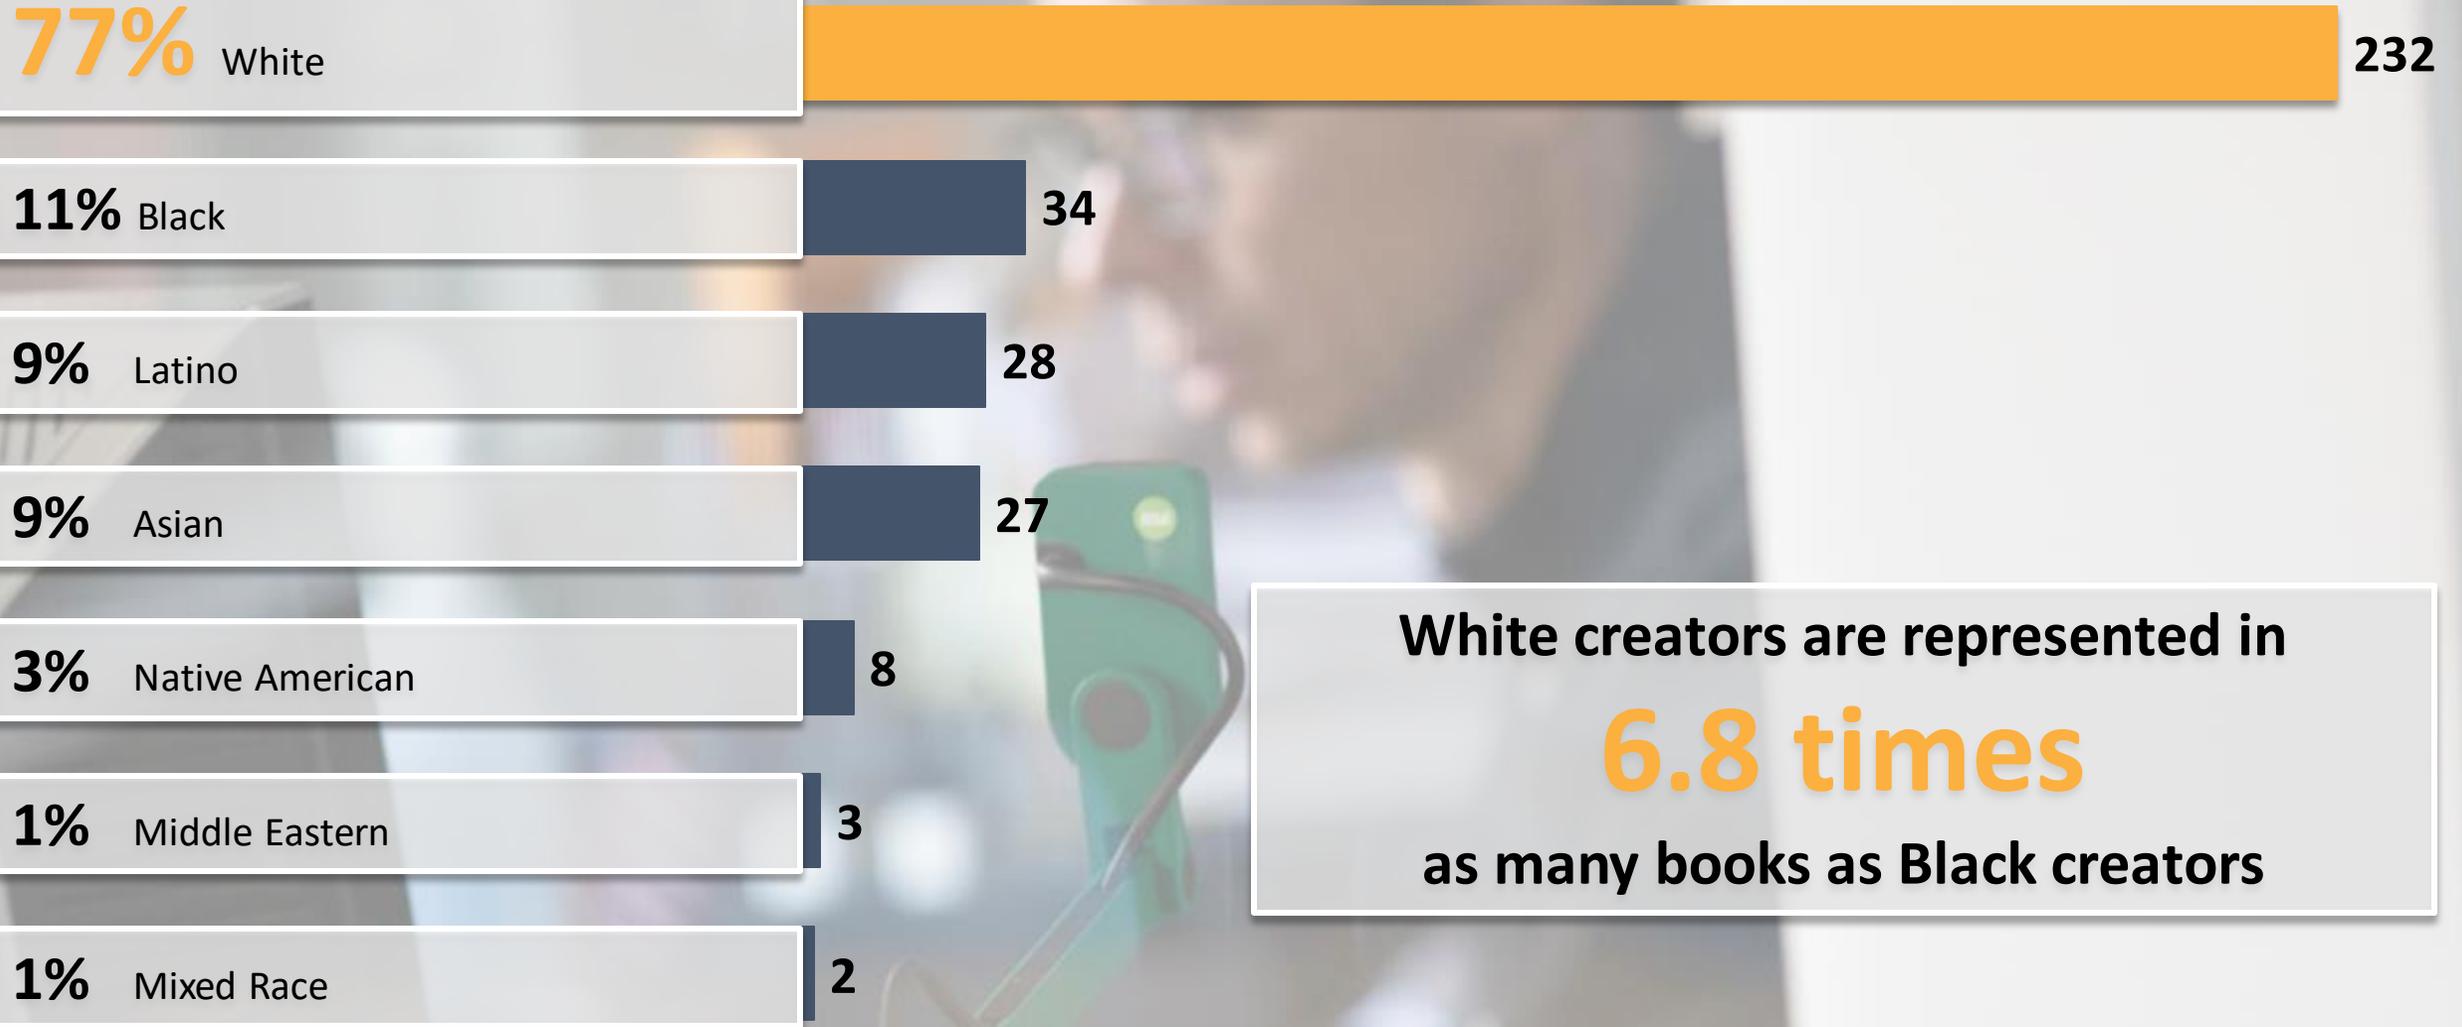

WHO

Curricula Analysis Findings: Authors

232 of 300

WHO

Curricula Analysis Findings: Authors

White creators are represented in 6.8 times

as many books as Black creators

WHO

Curricula Analysis Findings: People

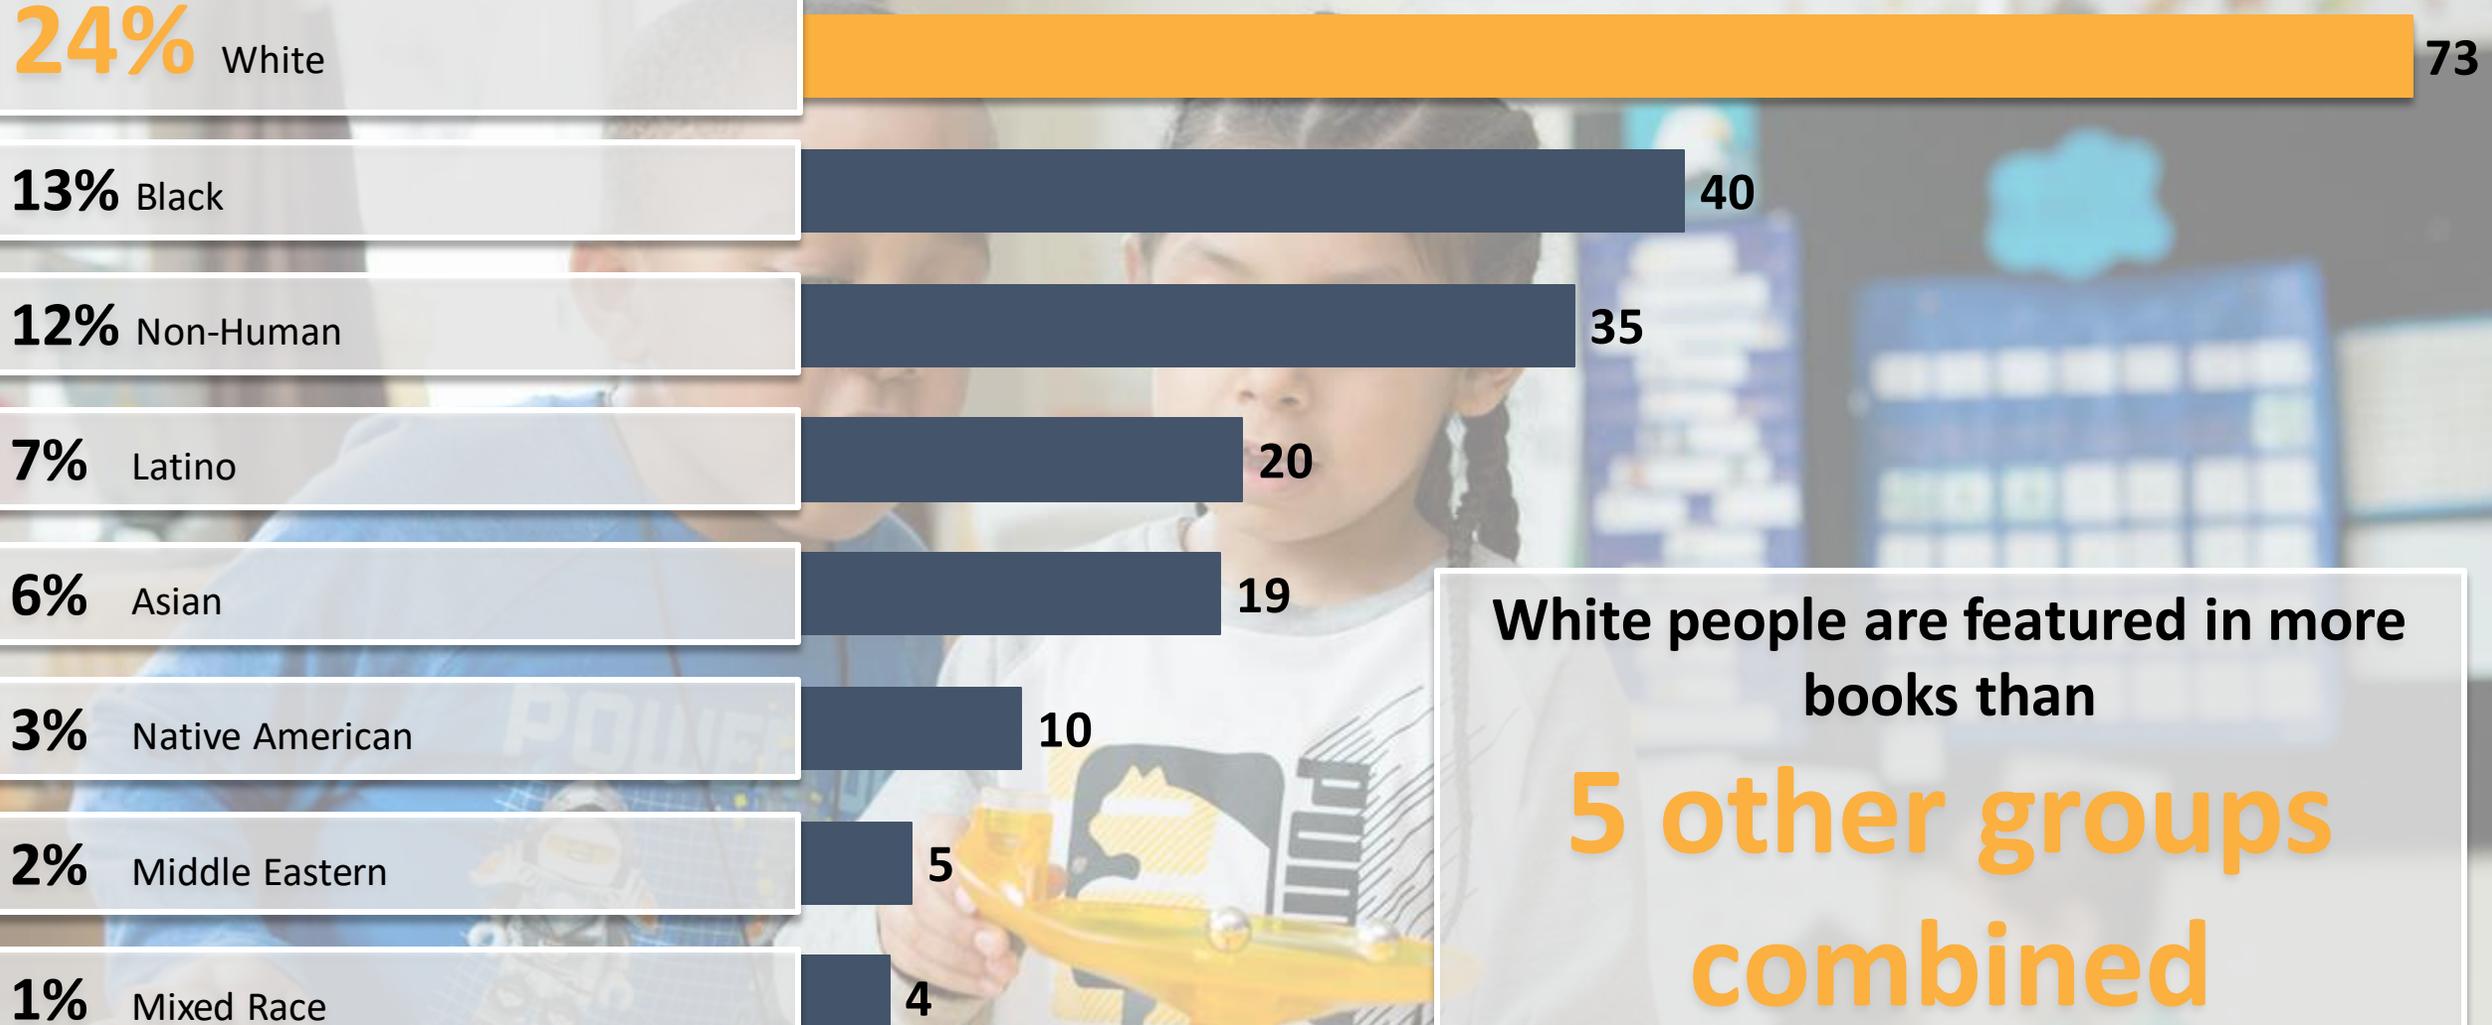

PEOPLE

White Black Non-Human

WHO

Curricula Analysis Findings: People

White people are featured in more books than 5 other groups combined

HOW

COMPLEX

PARTIAL

LIMITED

HOW

COMPLEX

HOW

Masreen's Secret School

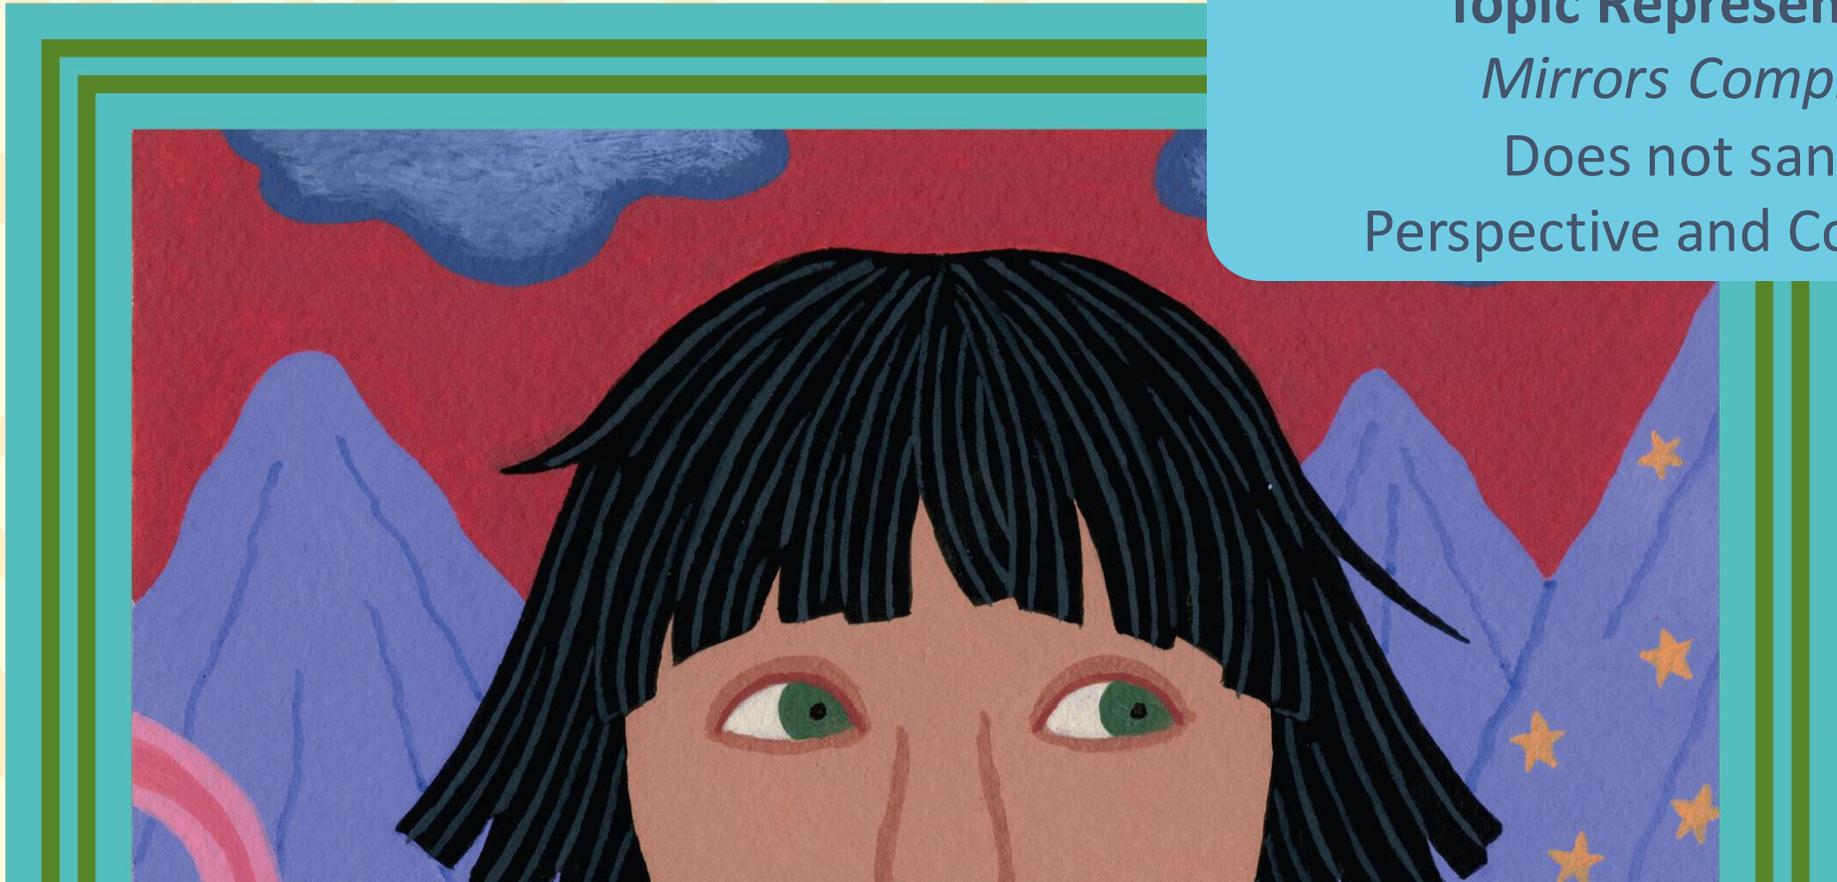

A TRUE STORY FROM AFGHANISTAN

Topic Representation

Mirrors Complexity

Does not sanitize

Perspective and Connection

HOW

PARTIAL

HOW

Freedom Soup

People Representation

Nears Complexity

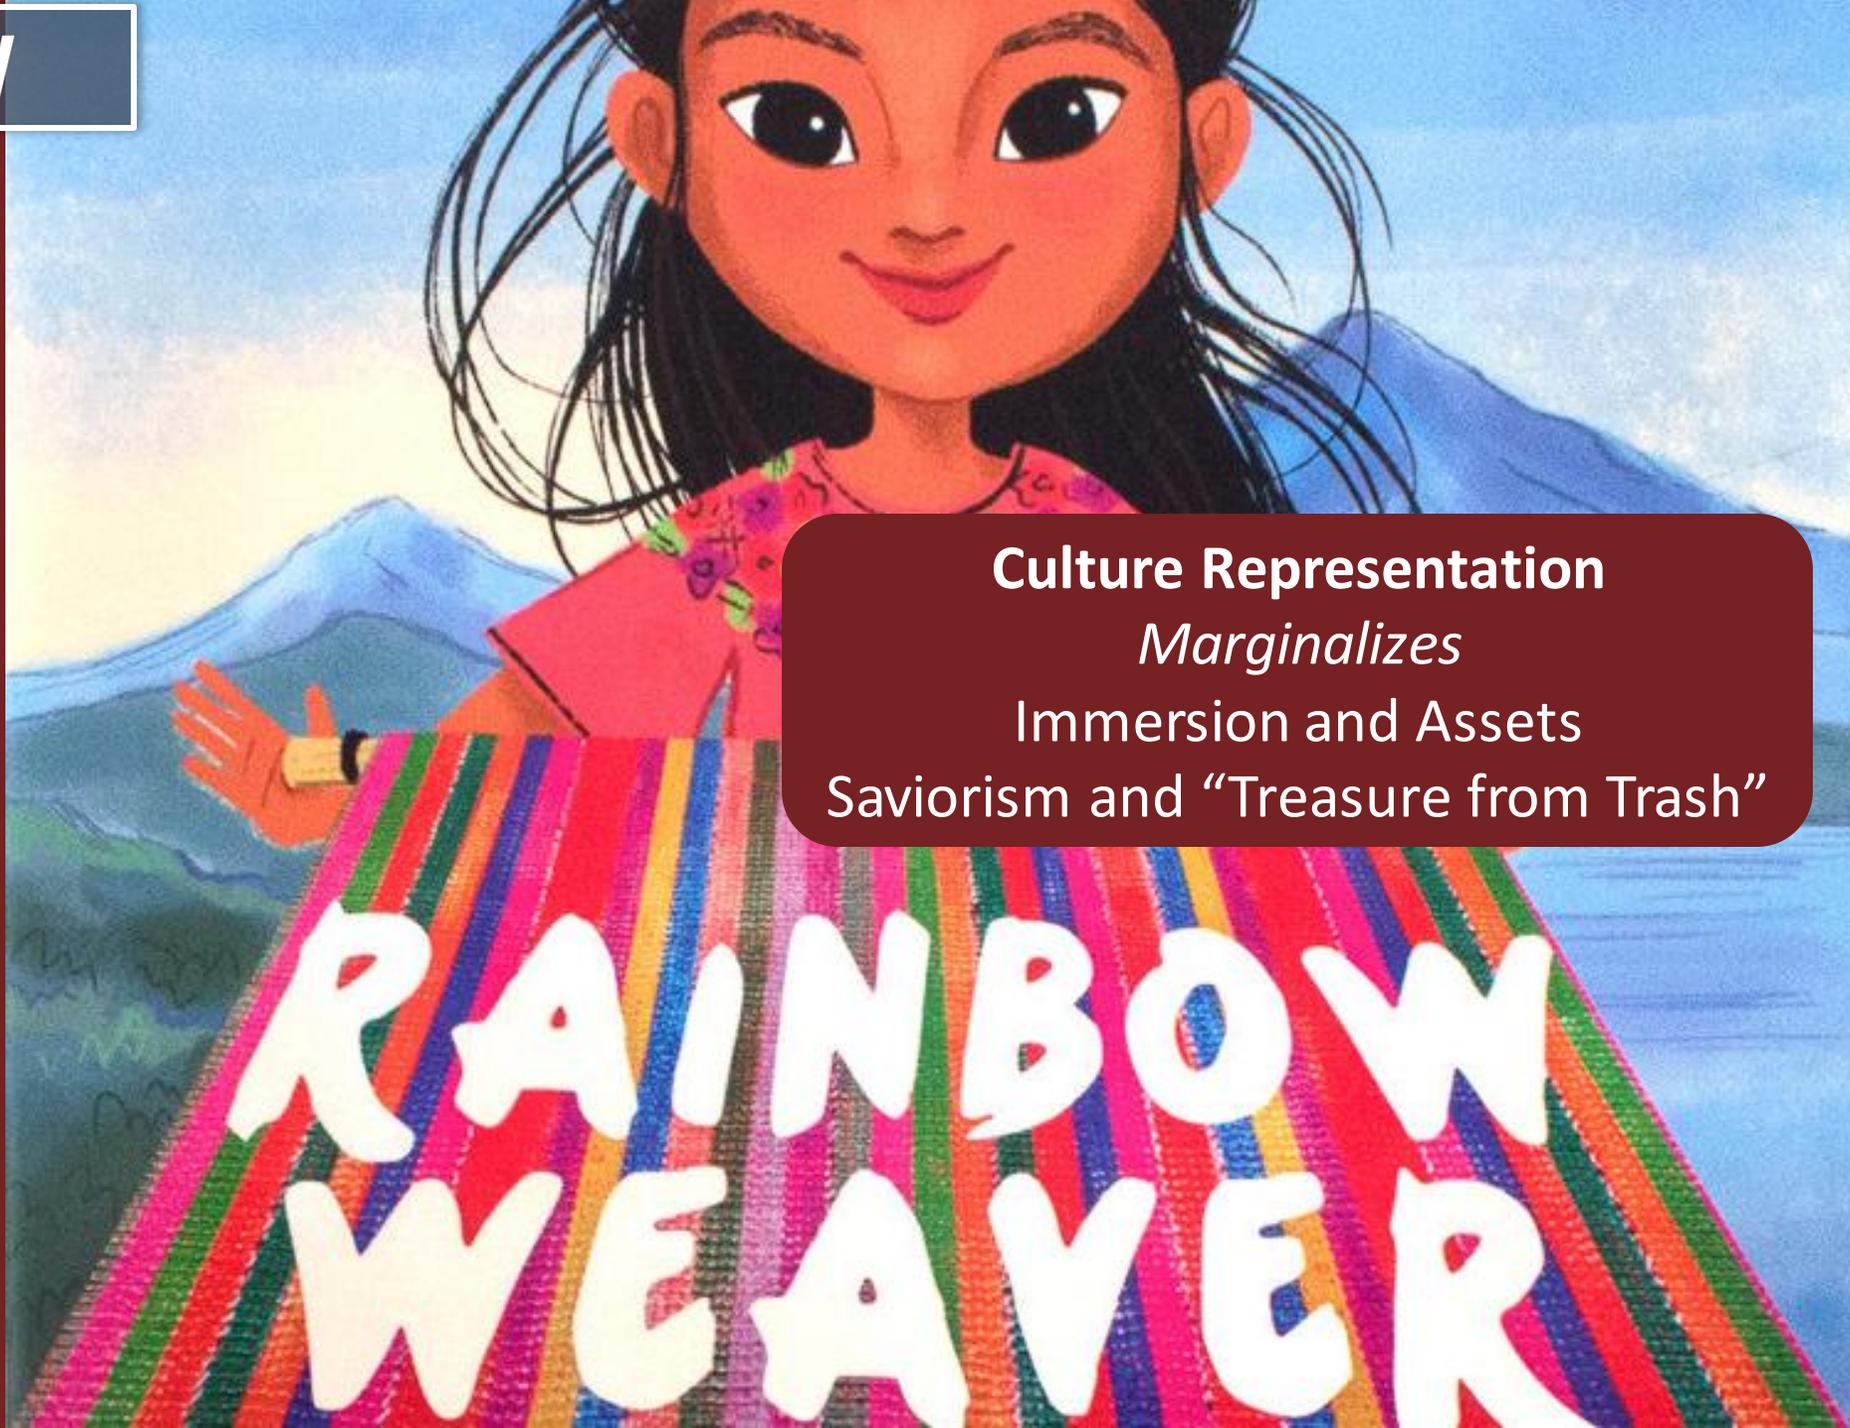

Rich description

No change or decision-making

HOW

LIMITED

HOW

Culture Representation

Marginalizes

Immersion and Assets

Saviorism and “Treasure from Trash”

HOW

Curricula Analysis Findings: People

PEOPLE

124 out of 280 people centered in texts are people of color

53%

are given complex representation

3%

are given partial representation

44%

are given limited representation

Mia and her abuela learn from one another and grow together, resulting in a deep and loving bond.

Belle's joy is richly described, but she is not shown to change or make decisions that affect others.

Tessie and Mamma joyously dance in the rain with neighbors, but there is little description of them as individuals or of their effect on others.

HOW

Curricula Analysis Findings: Groups

GROUPS

i love my HISTORY
i love my CULTURE
i love my PEOPLE
i love ME

118 out of 300 texts include groups of color

31%

depict a complex representation

15%

depict a partial representation

54%

depict a limited representation

The reader is a witness to the hopes and nurturing community around a family and their newborn baby through a Navajo tradition.

Values and cultural practices from Haida culture are positively described but without any connection to the people at the center of that culture.

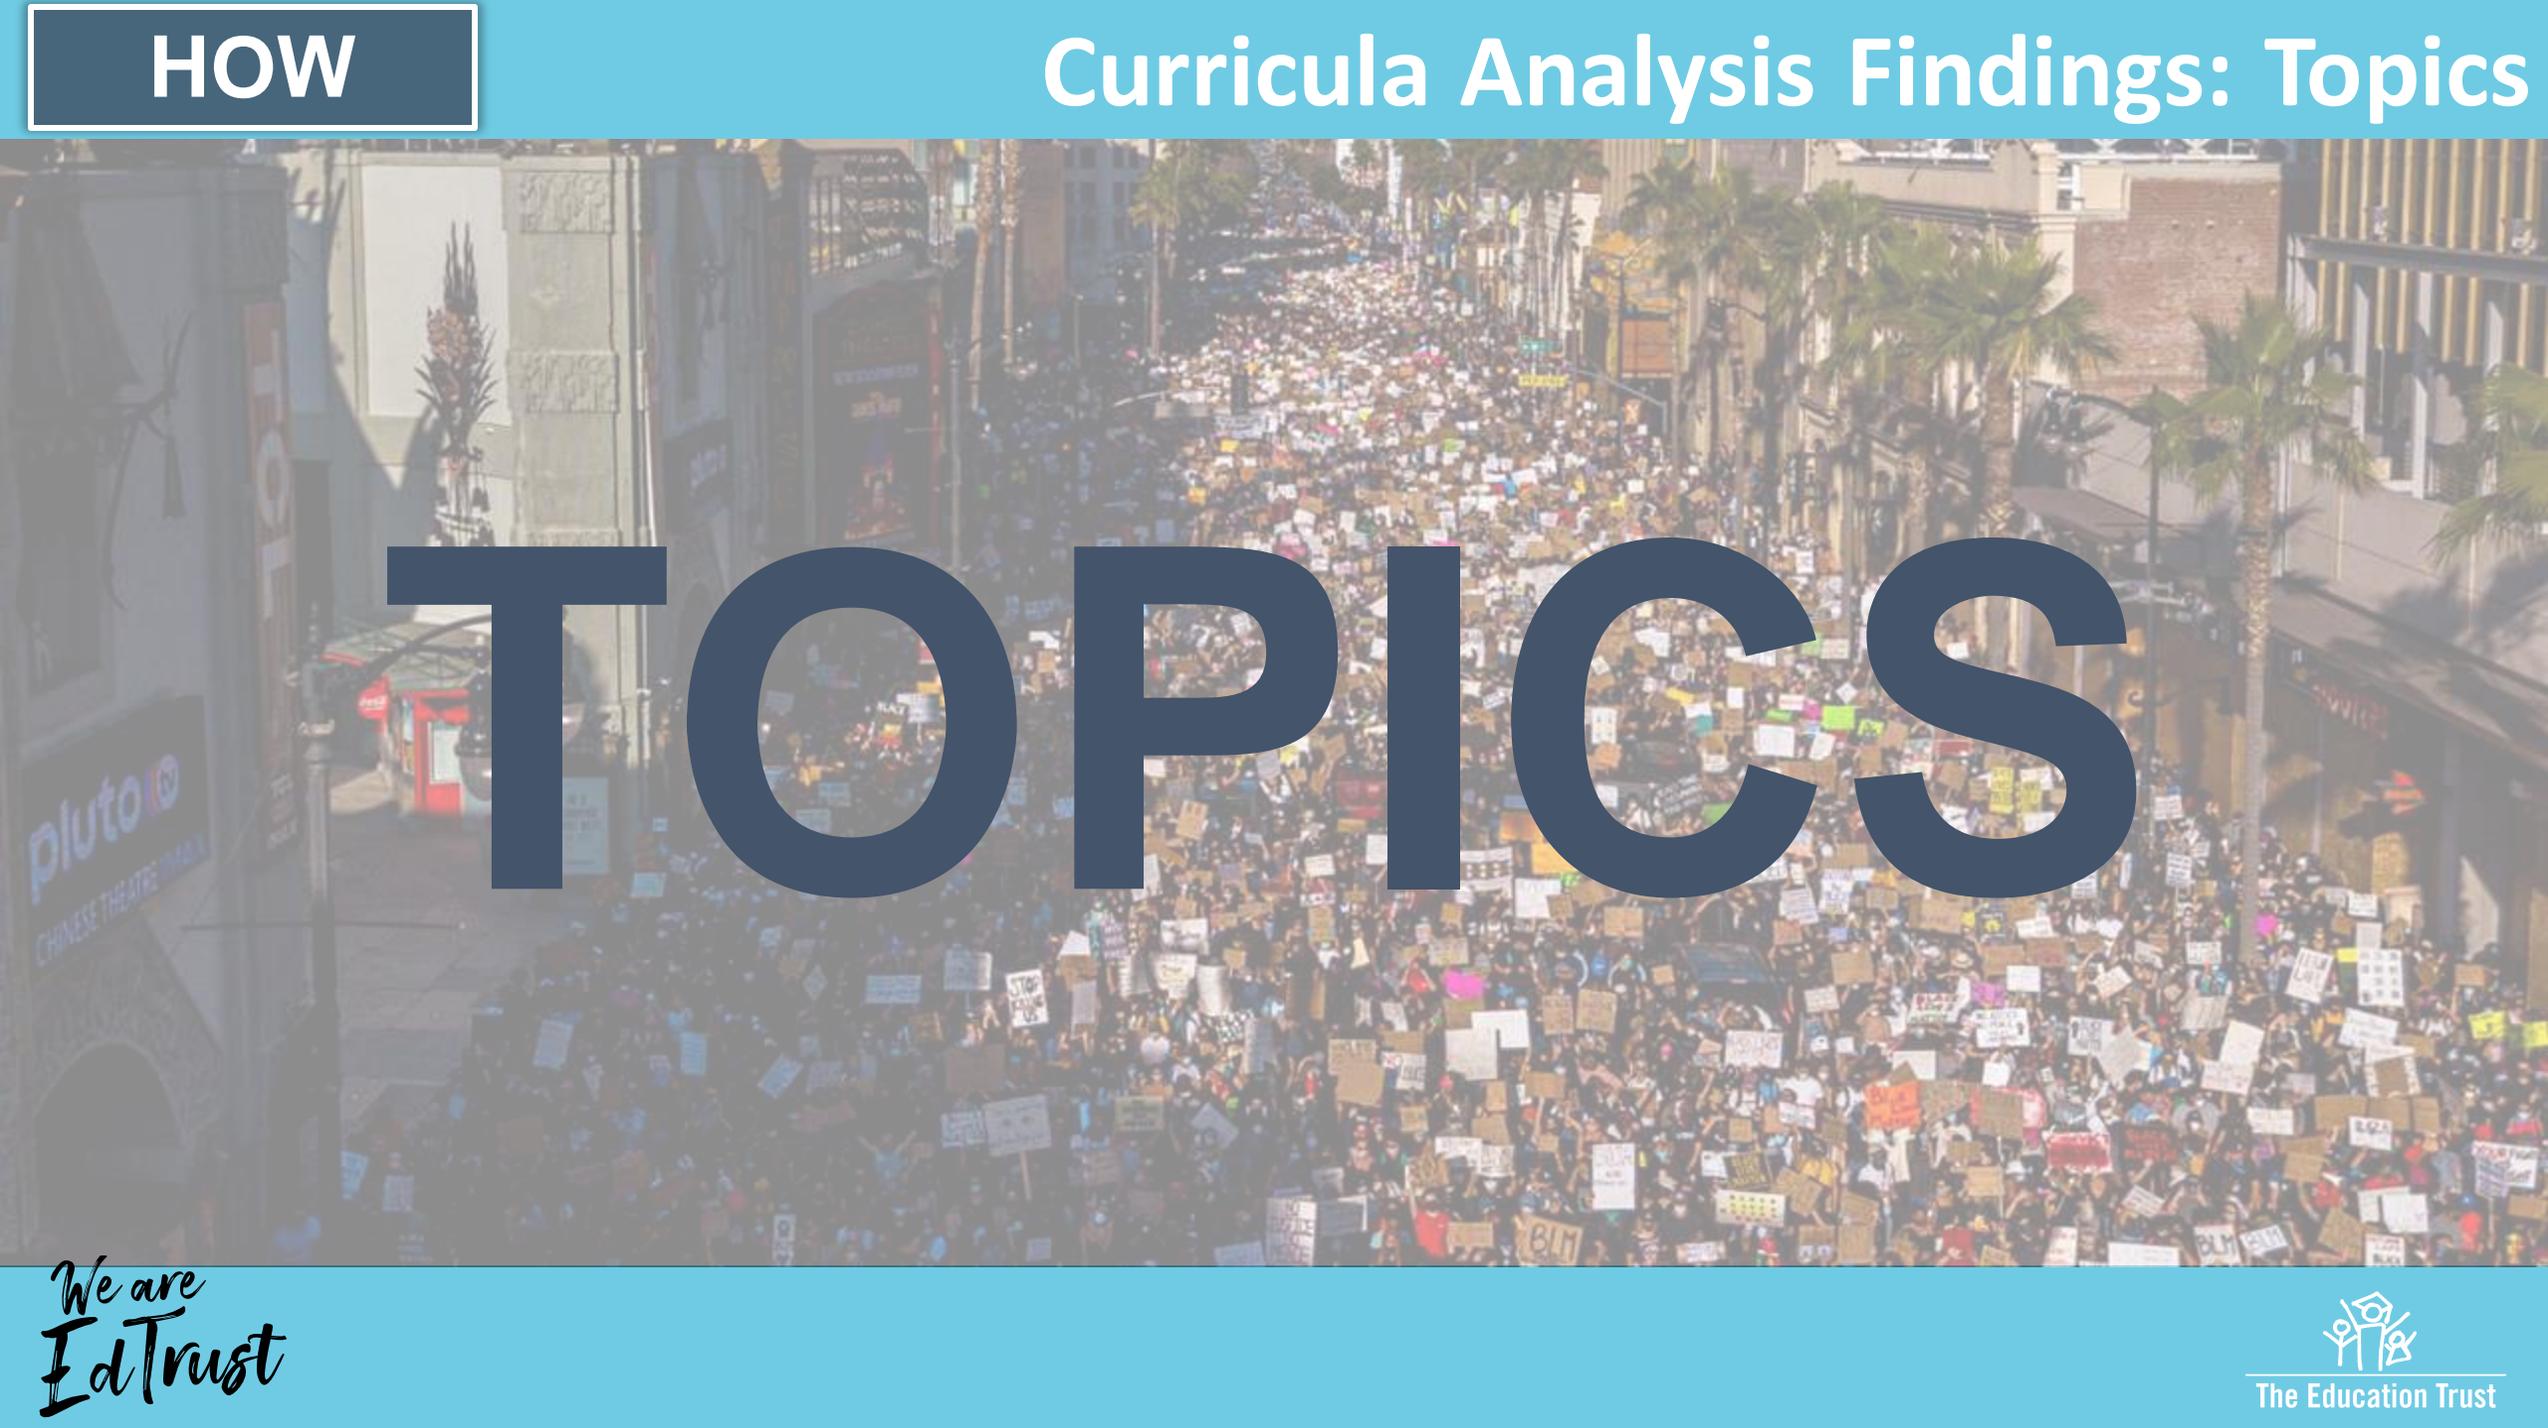

A detailed description of the multigenerational practice of weaving is enriched by Spanish translation but situated in a “treasure from trash” storyline, where the value of weaving depends on the interests of White tourists.

HOW

Curricula Analysis Findings: Topics

TOPICS

A high-angle photograph of a massive crowd of people filling a city street. Many individuals are holding up signs and banners, suggesting a protest or a large-scale demonstration. The street is lined with buildings and palm trees. The word 'TOPICS' is superimposed in large, bold, dark blue capital letters across the center of the image.

137 out of 300 texts include historical or social topics

16%

provide a complex representation

4%

provide a partial representation

80%

provide a limited representation

The denial of education to girls and women is shown as an enactment of societal structure through government policies and violent enforcement.

Gabriela Mistral broke barriers as the first Nobel-Prize winning Latina woman, but those barriers remain hidden in this story.

Legal segregation is framed as an individual problem--as people thinking "black people and white people should not be friends," which can be solved if we are kind to one another.

YOUR TURN

Tool Example: Tito Puente: Mambo King, Rey del Mambo

Tito's dream finally came true when he led his very own big band—the Tito Puente Orchestra. He wrote music and recorded more than one hundred albums! He made music with Celia Cruz, Santana, and La Lupe.

El sueño de Tito al fin se hizo realidad cuando logró dirigir su propia orquesta: la Orquesta de Tito Puente. ¡Tito escribió su propia música y grabó más de cien álbumes! Hizo música con Celia Cruz, Santana y La Lupe.

What about the text or image gives a sense of character dimension or agency?

Tool Example: We Are Water Protectors

What about the text or image gives a sense of character influence or topic perspective?

Tool Example: The Cherokee People

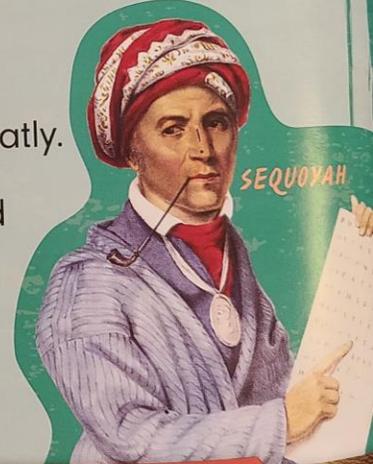

What about the text gives a sense of group assets, group relationships, or the degree to which a topic is fully presented or minimized?

CHANGING THE CHEROKEE CULTURE

Besides their homes, the Cherokee people changed their appearance as they assimilated. Traditionally, the Cherokee wore animal skins, beaded belts, and moccasins on their feet. By the end of the 1700s, most had given these up for the pants, jackets, dresses, skirts, and shoes white people wore.

Cherokee society also changed greatly. The tribe formed a government modeled after the United States government and even had a constitution. The Cherokee practiced white religions and created schools, too.

DID YOU KNOW?

QUESTIONS

William Rodick, PhD
P-12 Practice Lead
wrodick@edtrust.org