Knox counties, which passed in Chalkbeat TN about the legislation. Governor Lee's gun reform bill to Hamilton and Tennessee legislature's race to be seen. Though the 2023 legislative session is moving towards it close, Ed Trust TN will continue to remain an active advocacy partner and informative resource.

Retention Legislative Tracker

Specifc conditions, among other changes. For Ed Trust TN's ongoing advocacy efforts, the proposed law will affect students currently in the third grade. The retention, with advocates and educators posing relevant concerns about the expansion.

Advocates will continue to watch developments on this bill, its implications opposition to the proposed expansion into Knoxville's public schools.

Schools, passed in mid February on 19-6 vote. That measure, however, saw expand the contested program to Chattanooga-area Hamilton County LEAs including Hamilton and Knox, passed the House on a 57-35 vote on amended lawmakers this week as the legislature concludes its 2023 business. An Ed Trust TN's investments in Tennessee State University, our state's only public historically Black college or university (HBCU), and nearly $100K to yet another audit of Tennessee State University, our state's only public developments of 2023,_passed literacy retention bill, and $8 million toward expanding behavioral million recurring for the closely watched billion budget include $1.1 billion toward the Tennessee Investment in adjourn this evening, signaling an end to the rst year of the two-year 113th A more tumultuous-than-usual legislative session is widely expected to continue this year with debates expected to Find your Legislator 11 Willow Street, Suite 11, Nashville, TN 37210 edtrust.org/Tennessee