What's Happening

Korean Education Information Commission

Korean Education Information Commission

Korean Education Information Commission

Korean Education Administration Corporation

Korean Education Administration Corporation

Korean Education Administration Corporation

Korean Education Administration Corporation

Korean Education Administration Corporation

Korean Education Administration Corporation

Korean Education Administration Corporation

Korean Education Administration Corporation

Korean Education Administration Corporation

Korean Education Administration Corporation

Korean Education Administration Corporation

Noteworthy

The Korean government announced a new law to regulate blockchain-based virtual worlds. The law requires virtual world developers to obtain a license from the government and to comply with certain guidelines. The law also bans virtual world users from engaging in illegal activities in virtual worlds.

The Korean government also announced new regulations for online gambling. The regulations require online gambling operators to obtain a license from the government and to comply with certain guidelines. The regulations also ban online gambling users from engaging in illegal activities.

The Korean government also announced new regulations for social media. The regulations require social media platforms to implement certain controls to prevent the spread of illegal content. The regulations also ban social media users from engaging in illegal activities.

The Korean government also announced new regulations for cryptocurrency. The regulations require cryptocurrency exchanges to obtain a license from the government and to comply with certain guidelines. The regulations also ban cryptocurrency users from engaging in illegal activities.

The Korean government also announced new regulations for artificial intelligence. The regulations require artificial intelligence developers to obtain a license from the government and to comply with certain guidelines. The regulations also ban artificial intelligence users from engaging in illegal activities.